RSAJournal (Rivista di Studi Americani) is the official journal of the AISNA (Italian Association of North American Studies). It publishes research and scholarship in all aspects of the language, literature, history, politics, society, cinema, and culture of the United States, either in itself or in its global context, and it invites contributions by both members and non-members on specific topics in the field as well as general essays. RSA is peer reviewed and appears annually.

Submissions must be in English, must use the MLA Handbook (7th edition) in text, notes, and bibliography, and must be no longer than 40,000 characters maximum (including spaces, notes, and bibliography). These must be accompanied by a 200-word abstract and a separate cover sheet bearing the author's name, address, telephone number, e-mail address, and affiliation. Submissions are double-blind peer reviewed; the author's name should not appear anywhere in the manuscript. RSAJournal reviews submissions with the understanding that they have not been submitted concurrently to another journal.

Please submit contributions to RSAJournal through its website: rsa.aisna.net.
